Local Group Visits Camp Cornplanter

Seventeen members of the citizens' advisory boards of the Warren and Kane Salvation Army Corps visited Camp Cornplanter, near Kinzua, Monday evening, having supper with the campers and enjoying the early evening camp program.

This included witnessing the lowering of the flag, with camp boys and girls taking part in the exercises and the three buglers playing their melodies in three-part harmony, and vesper services conducted from the high hillside, the singing being audible throughout most of the 17 acres of camp ground.

Games and athletics were watched with interest by the visitors. One board member served as umpire for the ball game, one took a turn as pinch hitter and others participated in or watched the volleyball, tennis, badminton and archery matches.

An inspection was made of the regulation swimming pool, bath house, pump house, tool room, infirmary, administration building, cabins, kitchen and campfire site—one of the most sacred and enjoyable parts of camp.

The board members learned that thus far in the first four periods of camp, 374 have attended. The average weight increases for each boy and girl was reported as 4 pounds, 2 ounces. A charge of 50 cents per day is made for each camper.

Portrait of Judge D. U. Arird Formally Presented to Court

At a special session of honorary court, held yesterday afternoon at the court house here with Judge Allison D. Wade presiding, an oil painting of former Judge D. U. Arird, executed by Miss Gene Alden Walker, was formally presented to the court by the Warren County Bar Association.

The presentation was made on behalf of the association by R. Pierson Eaton, its president, and was accepted by Judge Wade.

Judge Arird was in attendance at the court session and spoke briefly in appreciation of honor conferred by the hanging of his portrait in court room No. 2.

Present at the brief ceremonies were members of the bar association, most of the county officials and many other interested persons. In presenting the portrait of Judge Arird, Mr. Eaton read the following petition:

"To the Honorable, the Judge of the several Courts of Warren County.

"The Warren county bar has had long and intimate association with Delford U. Arird, both as a lawyer and as a judge. Upon his retirement from the bench in January, 1942, it was felt that his services to the courts and his place in the judicial history of our county should have recognition not only in our personal recollections, but in permanent form in the court house. To that end, our request for the portrait of Judge

Arird met with gracious response by him and Miss Mead, and they have offered the painting executed by Miss Gene Alden Walker in 1942.

"Judge Arird was elected to the bench in 1921, succeeding the appointive term of Judge Edward Lindsey, and was again elected in 1931. During his twenty years on the bench thirteen lawyers have been admitted to the bar, and their entire experience in court has been before him. To them, with due deference to our court, Judge Arird seems somehow 'The Judge', and their formative professional years have been colored by practice before him. It is with warm sentiment, therefore, that they view the portrait of Judge Arird today.

"The older members of the bar have perhaps known him more intimately, and welcome his portrait in court as a reminder of their many pleasant years of association.

"During the time Judge Arird was on the bench, important litigation of wide interest to the county was disposed of, and his opinions have helped to mold the legal history of the court. Particularly with his deep interest in county affairs we note that the addition to the court house, which has been of such benefit to the public, was erected during his term of office and with his instigation and support.

"Court Room No. 2 has largely been the forum of the bar, and until the recent rebuilding of the large court room has served most adequately and conveniently for the business of the court. It is appropriate, therefore, that we transmit the request of Judge Arird that his portrait hang in that court room where he himself has felt so much at home, and where the members of the bar may recall him most warmly.

"We are happy to note that Judge Arird is with us today, the vigor of his years unabated. Reminded as we are by his portrait, of his twenty active years of service on bench, we are pleased on this occasion to express to him personally the high regard of the bar, and the assurance that his long term of judicial service will be remembered in the future not alone by his portrait, but by the record of his judgeship which is built into the court house and into the very life of Warren county.

"The Warren County Bar Association therefore prays your honorable court, which for so many years was graced by your predecessor, Judge Arird, to accept his oil portrait for the court room."

Claudia Keener, daughter of Mrs. Christy, became the bride of Mr. Walsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Q. Walsh, also of Corry, yesterday in the parsonage of the Holy Cross church in Rasselas. Father Leo Foley performed the ceremony and attendants were Miss Martha Corbin and Richard Brennenman, both of Corry. Breakfast followed in the parsonage.

The bride wore a navy blue suit, navy and white accessories and a gardenia corsage. Her maid of honor wore a linen suit of navy and pink carnations.

The bride, niece of the Warren guests, is employed in the Montgomery Ward Company store in Corry and Mr. Walsh is an Aero Supply Company employee.

Advanced Training Class For Auxiliary Police Is Planned

An advanced course for auxiliary police will be started next Tuesday evening, August 25, at 7:30 o'clock at the high school. It was announced today by Police Chief George F. Haehn, who is in charge of this branch of the citizens' defense corps here.

The advanced class is open to all those who have finished the basic auxiliary police course. Graduation exercises for the basic course are being held this evening at The Box, where 45 auxiliary policemen will be presented their final marks.

Guests at tonight's program included Burgess R. W. Steber, Allen M. Gibson, chairman of the Warren County Defense Council; Forrest W. Waite, president of the borough council and commander of the Warren control center, and Glenn Stone, chairman of the police committee of the borough council.

Chief Haehn also announced today that a second basic training class for auxiliary police will be started on Wednesday evening, August 26. In addition to those in the borough, this school will be for those residing in districts close to Warren.

Any auxiliary policeman in the county is eligible to attend, Chief Haehn said. The only requirement for those outside the borough is that they furnish their own notebooks.

"Auxiliary police no doubt will play one of the most important parts of any unit in the national defense organization," Chief Haehn said. He stated that he would like to have at least 25 men from Warren borough attend the new basic training session.

The only qualifications, he said, are that the men be in good health, possess average intelligence and be loyal citizens.

It is also imperative that those starting the course attend every session.

17 Warned by Sheriff For Infractions

Seventeen persons appeared before Sheriff William Stuart in his office at the court house this morning, and received a warning concerning their violations of the last blackout in this area.

Three others, to be prosecuted before a justice of the peace, are awaiting the settlement of a definite date for the respective hearings.

Sheriff Stuart emphasized this morning, regarding the surprise blackout which is expected soon, that "any future violations will be prosecuted."

Stuart added that in the evenings, persons leaving their homes must extinguish all lights unless someone remains to attend them, as a citizen's absence from his home during the time of a blackout will no longer be an adequate excuse from such a violation.

Each of the 17 persons cautioned today made arrangements to correct their violations in the future, it was stated.

The surprise blackout will come during the next two weeks, but a definite time is not known, and will not be known until air raid sirens sound the alarm.

Bumper Peach Crop Is Seen This Season

Last year's peach crop, the second largest of record, was 69 million bushels. Prospects for a bumper crop are bright this year, so that peaches in quantity will be on hand for dessert, for canning, for drying, reports the Consumers' Guide.

You do not have to be a peach expert to pick out good ripe peaches when you buy. First, to tell whether a peach is fully ripe or not, look at the ground color, not at the rosy blush which varies in size and intensity with the variety of peach. The ground color should be whitish or yellowish, rather than greenish and pale. Peaches that were picked too early will look shriveled, have rubbery, tasteless flesh and will never ripen evenly.

A good peach should be firm, too, and without blemishes. Overripe peaches, that you can recognize by their softness, bruise easily; they are good buys only when you plan to use them at once. Look out for small holes from which a gummy substance oozes. They are signs of worm injury. Round brown spots on the peaches indicate a decay that will spread rapidly and cause the complete loss of your fruit. Finally, avoid peaches with growth cracks; they will soften and go to waste quickly.

If you are buying peaches for home canning, select them with special care. Only the best are good enough to be worth canning. Have you applied for that extra sugar for home canning?

A sugar purchase certificate from your sugar rationing board will entitle you to buy what you need. The quota is one pound for each four quarts of canned fruit you intend to put up and an extra pound for each member of your family to use in making jams and jellies.

Fully ripe peaches should go into the refrigerator at once when you get them home. Slightly green peaches are best kept at room temperature until they ripen. When you must slice peaches ahead of time for fruit cup or desserts, squeeze a little lemon juice over them to keep them from darkening.

A few drops of lemon juice also makes this fruit more delicious in pies and tarts. Very little sugar is needed when the peaches are fully ripe; slice and sprinkle sugar over.

THE MOSCOW CONFERENCE

(Written by Glenn Barb, Wide World and Times-Mirror war analyst)

For Russia this is still a one-front war. She wants a second front, but she wants it in the right place. The Churchill-Stalin conference at Moscow, while reaffirming the alliance of three great powers whose lands girdle the globe and whose forces fight the enemy on all the seas and all but one of the continents, emphasized once more the Soviet Union's anxiety to confine her share in the war to one front until her allies can marshal the power and choose the time and place for the second.

Japan was not mentioned by name in the communiqué which announced the results of the Moscow conference. But the care taken, obviously at the insistence of Joseph Stalin, to exclude Japan from the announced scope of the decisions showed clearly that the threat of Hirohito's army in Manchuria was never far from the minds of the conferees even as they grappled with the deadly urgent problem of stopping Adolf Hitler.

For the second time in ten weeks the leaders of the United Nations have made this pointed exception. Yesterday's announcement declared again that the agreements concluded early in June were against "Hitlerite Germany and her associates in Europe."

The United States and Britain, much as they hope to see eastern Siberia ultimately available as a base of operations against Japan, are compelled to accept their ally's single-front stand with sympathy and understanding. One of the great dangers confronting the United Nations is that the much-debated second front will be opened by Japan before America and Britain are ready to strike, that it will come at the eastern extremity of the great Eurasian land mass instead of the western.

Certainly this is no time for Russia to challenge the Mikado's Kwantung army, which reports from many quarters describe as growing steadily in numbers and striking power, ranged along the Amur and Ussuri rivers, ready to thrust deep into Siberia in the fine autumn weather that begins in a week or two in northeastern Asia.

Russian-Japanese relations are regulated, according to repeated official statements, by the neutrality treaty the two powers signed at Easter, 1941, in Moscow.

RED CROSS NEEDS HELP!

Only seven days are left in which to make 12,000 surgical dressings for the Warren Red Cross quota.

This was the startling statement given out at headquarters in Market street today.

Attendance records have shown an alarming decline within the past week, which is another distressing admission.

Ladies, you cannot forget the vital importance of this phase of war work—you cannot leave it all for a few people to worry about. Our men in the armed forces are not taking a vacation this summer, and the Warren County Chapter of the Red Cross is on the job every minute, too.

Your help is needed and it is needed now!

Warren has sacrificed many a doctor to the army and navy, and the least that the folks here at home can do is to furnish them with bandages necessary to their work. The Home Front must remain solid—every woman must do her share. Enroll now for surgical dressing work at the Market street office.

An additional nightly session will begin Friday at 7:30 o'clock. The Red Cross invites anyone interested to join at that time.

CHANGES AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Recent changes at the Young Men's Christian Association have resulted in the removal of a number of families who have endeared themselves to the community, the latest being Secretary R. W. Reynolds who had held that position for almost ten years.

In expressing regret over the fact that Mr. Reynolds and his wife are lost to Warren, we join in extending greetings to his successor, R. H. Wagner, who come to the local post from Bethlehem.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds leave Warren with the best wishes of a host of friends and admirers for continued success in their new home.

A good news item states that there will be extra rations of sugar in September and October, just as we had on ticket No. 7.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—The Capital in Wartime:

Leave it to Leon Henderson to get the job of price administration done in spite of those drastic cuts in budget dealt him by Congress.

One of the biggest circularization jobs in the country is now in progress. Into every home must go that simple little double-faced brochure titled "What You Should Know About Wartime Price Control." To mail it would cost a million or so. To circulate it by hand, if the hands were paid, would cost more than that. So what? So Henderson prints at the bottom of his pamphlet the brief line: "Distributed by the Office of Civilian Defense and the Boy Scouts of America." And the job is done.

Incidentally, the pamphlet answer, one of the questions I have been most frequently asked in recent weeks: What should I do if I think I'm being overcharged?

In case you haven't received yours, the answer is: "First, talk it over in a friendly way with your shopkeeper. Don't try to be a policeman. Leave that to the OPA."

If you are confident you are being charged too much, ask for a sales slip. Write to the nearest OPA office or to your War Price and Rationing board (after it announces it is ready to receive complaints). Give the name of the store, date of purchase, price paid by you or asked by the store, the selling price, if one is posted, name and make of the article, as well as size and weight or other specifications. Enclose the sales slip or receipt. Explain why you think you were overcharged. And give your name and address.

THE CIO has chased the Republican National Committee right out of the house.

There really are no political implications involved. It's just that the CIO has bought the building at 713 Jackson Place Northwest and told the tenant National Republican Committee to vacate. The item would hardly be worth recording if it weren't wartime Washington and office space weren't at such a premium. The GOP's national headquarters is up against it.

The Navy really went into a Hollywood huddle in picking that title, "WAVES," for their women's auxiliary.

The simple title was, of course, Women's Naval Auxiliary Corps, or perhaps with the second and third words reversed. But in these days of alphabet agencies, that came down to WNA's or WANC's. The first was unpronounceable. The second sounded like the bellows of a bullfight with a Texas twang.

Women's Reserve of the Naval Reserve was also considered and discarded. That War I had proved that "yeomanettes" (which was what women serving with the Navy were called in those days) didn't catch on and besides in the present set-up the ratings were to be different.

It was days before some one came up with that "WAVES," and the whole Navy started breathing easier. They got it by that round, Robin Hood's, barn method of designating them: Women Appointed for Volunteer Emergency Service. Whoever thought that up (the Navy won't tell but his name is Lieut. Jack Allen) must have started with "waves" and worked back.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

NEW YORK — It is giving no comfort to the enemy and violating no weather secrets to say that "Rain" is very much in the air. Broadway will soon have a full ration of Sadie Thompson, a hightop white shoes, the Rev. Davidson, screechy phonograph records, and the mountains of Nebraska. . . . Only, this time, it will be Mariene Dietrich who plays the girl-who-fell-by-the-wayside. . . . Original "Rain" was by Somerset Maugham short story was by John Colton in collaboration with Maugham. . . . The producing rights now belong to Colton. . . . Veteran Broadway observers remember the original "Rain" with the late Jeanne Eagles, as one of Broadway's greatest excursions. . . . It has had many revivals in many sections of the country, the most noteworthy being Tallulah Bankhead's at the Music Box some five or six years ago. . . . Present plans call for "musical" Rain, with book and score by Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein. . . . Probable production date: Xmas.

MOST NY reporters thought that $100,000 life insurance policy on Ray Bolger, star of "By Jupiter," just another publicity gag—but it wasn't. The producers called him "indispensable, extraordinary, and unique." That's quite a handful of praise. . . . Ray is a 38-year-old Irish singing, comedian, dancer who is also an acrobat who dances on rubber legs and practically carries "By Jupiter," a smash Broadway musical hit. Go down the line and count the other comic-dancers. If anything happened to Bolger, none of his contemporaries could take his place. . . . A reporter for one of the Manhattan dailies cornered the former Bostonian and asked him how his head felt, now that his feet had been valued at a hundred grand. . . . "My head has figured out," responded Ray, "that I'm worth more to the show dead than alive." Bolger is an ex-insurance salesman and inventor of the Lindy Hop, which became nationally famous when Lindy, the Lindy, flew the Atlantic in 1927.

TWO YEARS OF U. S. WAR SPENDING

In the first two years of America's intensive war effort spending has jumped out of the millions class into the billions. Top chart shows how total appropriations, contracts and expenditures have jumped from near zero when France fell to present high marks. While 214 billion dollars have been appropriated for war spending only 120 billions have been contracted for and 30 billions actually spent in the July, 1940-July, 1942 period. Bottom chart shows daily rate of expenditures, now at nearly 200 million dollars a day. Figures from War Production Board.

2. What is an Me-109-F?
3. What is an A.D.C.? You can usually distinguish this soldier by his gold shoulder braid.

Rails and Transports Pilot Some Stocks to Higher Levels

New York, Aug. 18.—(P.)—Rails and air transports continued to pilot the stock market toward higher levels today, although progress mostly was confined to fractions.

Investment demand remained as a bolstering influence and some further bidding was attributed to apparent American successes in the battle of the Solomons and signs of a little more resistance by the Russians in the Caucasus. The Churchill-Stalin conferences were viewed as encouraging marketwise.

Mild profit taking came in here and there after the start and stalled prices near the fourth hour, but plus marks were well in the majority. A few sizeable blocks of low-quoted issues helped the volume.

Nazis Tighten Ring Around Turkey

Turkey, fence-straddling, solitary near east neutral, finds itself menaced once again by encircling Nazi drives. German advance in Caucasus, linked with Mediterranean penetration beyond Crete, brings ring of aggression more than half-way around Turkey, which has been persistently under pressure by both axis and allies ever since war began.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Brian Donlevy is a fellow who gets around. He gets around to all the studios by design, so that pictures with his face in them will be at plenty of theaters all the time.

Stocky, husky Brian has no illusions about his face, but he figures an actor's face has to be seen to be remembered. He has been that way ever since his first picture.

He had been on the stage in New York, starting with "What Price Glory" in the 20's. He had been in many plays that were bought by the movies and played with many actors who were signed by Hollywood, but Donlevy was given a wide berth. He was in "The Milky Way" when Harold Lloyd bought it for pictures. Gladys George and Hugh O'Connell of the play's cast were signed for the movie, but not Donlevy. He got sore and went out on his own.

By the time his few hundred dollars were gone he had met a lot of people who didn't see him as the type. Just before returning to New York he remembered he hadn't seen Bob McIntyre, who was casting director for Goldwyn. "Wait a minute," said Bob, "I may have something for you."

He sent Donlevy to see Director Howard Hawks, who in turn sent him to see Goldwyn. They both gave the high sign, and Brian went to the wardrobe department for a costume.

That was where Brian thought about his face. The part was a western "heavy." Brian selected garments: Black pants, black boots, black shirt, black belt, black tie, black hat—even black gloves. Instead of a flashing silver pistol he picked a small black derringer — to carry in his back pocket. Hawks made him skip the gloves (whereupon he hid his hands), but his face stood out in "Barbary Coast" like a beacon in a blackout.

HE was "in." Three years at 20th Century-Fox learning about the movies in B pictures, then moved up "Jesse James," "Union Pacific," "Beau Geste," "The Great McGinty," "Wake Island" and the current "Clear for Action" are just a few of the films that have kept him busy.

Donlevy began getting around early. From Ireland, where he was born, to Sheboygan Falls, Wis., where as a boy he staged Saturday stage shows at movie houses. His next stop was Annapolis, and more amateur theatricals. When the world dismissed many naval academy students resigned, Brian among them. He headed for Broadway, invited by an artist to whom he had written a fan letter.

While he tried to crash the stage, the artist J. C. Leyendecker gave him a job as gardener, handy man, and model. The Donlevy face appeared on many Saturday Evening Post covers — as handsome collar-ad types, as Santa Claus, as . . .

"And I hate to admit this," says the burly he-man actor, "but once I was on the cover as Cleopatra."

SUGAR GROVE

Sugar Grove, Aug. 14—Miss Edna Dahlin, of Mayville, was the speaker at the union missionary meeting at the Presbyterian manse Wednesday evening. Over sixty persons availed themselves of the opportunity to hear Miss Dahlin, who returned from Malaya Easter morning. She had served as a missionary to that country since 1939. She told of her work as a missionary and of the people of that country and then of her experiences after the war began and her narrow escape from the bombings in Singapore and other places. She also showed many interesting pictures of that country and Australia. Mrs. F. A. Schoonover presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker. Musical numbers were given by Mrs. Neil Scott and Miss Ruth Abbott, who sang a duet, with Miss Mae Edlin as accompanist. Barbara Johnson played a clarinet solo, with her mother, Mrs. Ray Johnson as accompanist. Mrs. Carl Perrin led the devotions and Rev. W. O. Brainard offered prayer. A buffet luncheon was served, with Mrs. Perrin and Mrs. Schoonover pouring.

Miss Ruth Abbott entertained the N. B. Club Tuesday evening. Two tables of bridge were played, with prizes going to Mrs. Fulton McKay and Mrs. Gerald Miller. Miss Abbott is now spending a few days with her friend, Rev. Helen Toner, of Tucson, Ariz., who is spending a few weeks at her former home at Shinglehouse.

Mrs. Carrie Davis and granddaughter, Marietta Lore, of Beaver, were weekend guests of Miss Mabel Higgins in Warren.

Mrs. Robert Barlow, of Ellwood

City, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Barlow.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Marchant and family, of Buffalo, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Carlborg.

Mrs. Charles Barrett has returned from spending a few days at Westfield with Mr. and Mrs. Burr Hiller.

Miss Mary Deveraux is spending two weeks with friends in Buffalo. Miss Dorothy Borton and brother Wesley Borton and children, of Buffalo, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Phillips and family.

Miss Ruth Perrin has accepted a position as teacher in the Ludlow school.

The Volleyball Club was entertained this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Schoonover. Mrs. Winifred Bohn has resigned her position as clerk in the post office and her place has been taken by Mrs. John Bruce. Jack Thorpe, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Thorpe, who is serving in the U. S. Navy, has returned to Newport, R. I., after spending a week's furlough here.
